THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

BY W. A. HEMPHILL & CO. | ATLANTA, GEORGIA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 1870. | VOLUME II---NUMBER 178

EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA. GEORGIA, JANUARY 13.

☞ THE CONSTITUTION will be delivered to members of the Legislature at any point in the city desired.

☞ See Fourth Page.

The Situation.

The situation gets interesting. The last card played is the most revolutionary of all.

Thwarted by the firmness of the Democrats, and the resolution of the moderate Republicans, the Bullock faction has invoked the aid of the military; and now, after the roll of the House is gone through, and the members sworn in, the organization is stopped, and the Georgia bill broken snap off, by an order from Washington, from the Headquarters of the Army, appointing a military board, to enquire into the eligibility of certain Democrats who have taken the oath.

This, it is needless to say, is not only unauthorized, but in bold violation of the Georgia Bill, under which this organization is proceeding, and is a direct usurpation by the military of the Federal Court jurisdiction.

It is another one of those desperate and lawless steps that, from the very first, have marked the execution of the Georgia Bill

The Assembly is adjourned by the military until Monday, to give time for the Board to finish its investigations.

The Speaker pro. tem., Harris, refused to let members who were absent when their names were called, take the oath after the roll was gone through. Major Scott raised the point, as there were several who had come in. The Speaker withheld his decision until he could get time to get instructed, and then refused the privilege, though the members were present, ready to take the oath.

The Contents of the State Road Treasury.

In explanation of the statements made in the editorial columns of THE CONSTITUTION of Wednesday evening, relative to the assets turned over by Mr. Blodgett to his successor, Mr. Harris, the Superintendent has sent us the following facts:

The due bills mentioned as among the assets, were given by employees on the road for money advanced upon their wages. When the regular pay day comes round these due bills are taken up, and hence are in reality the same as cash when held against the creditors of the road. Such has been the custom, more or less, with all railroad corporations, and of the Western and Atlantic under former administrations.

The warrant No. 312, and notes and other papers, were turned over to Mr. Blodgett by his predecessor, Mr. Clayton, and receipted for as cash. They were in the Treasurer's hands, with the approval of the former Superintendent, at the time Mr. Clayton was superceded by Mr. Blodgett; and Mr. Blodgett simply turned them over to his successor as they had been turned over to him.

"The sundry notes from Jared I. Whitaker to be paid in printing," etc., and which THE CONSTITUTION represented to amount to "$7,800," amount only to about $1,800; and these were approved and ordered by the former Superintendent, Mr. Hulbert, as appears from the following card of Mr. Isaac P. Harris, the present Treasurer.

WESTERN AND ATLANTIC RAILROAD, TREASURER'S OFFICE, Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 12, 1870.

Col. F. Blodgett, Superintendent:

DEAR SIR: I have no papers on J. I. Whitaker, except some $1,800, approved and ordered by the former Superintenpent.

Yours respectfully,
ISAAC P. HARRIS.

This money was advanced to Mr. Whitaker on account of printing done, and not merely in anticipation that work would be given him. The same thing was done by order of Campbell Wallace, in 1868, in favor of all three of the daily newspapers then published in Atlanta. When final settlement was had, those due bills for money advanced on account of printing done, were taken up, as these will be, upon final settlement. And after a final settlement is had with Mr. Whitaker, there will still be a small balance in his favor.

These advances are claimed to be legitimate and proper, under that section of the Code quoted by THE CONSTITUTION, and which authorizes the Treasurer to "retain such amounts," in making his monthly payments to the State Treasurer, "as the Superintendent may direct." The amounts above noted were retained by order and direction of Superintendent Hulbert, and that officer had the precedent of Campbell Wallace and other former Superintendents, no less than the usual custom of all similar corporations, as well as the law of the State to sustain his action. In accepting the trust of State Road Treasurer, Mr. Blodgett receipted for such assets, or "chips and whetstones," only as were ordered and offered by the Superintendent; and, in turning over the funds to Mr. Harris, he offered the same kind of assets (and none other) that he had accepted from Mr. Clayton, and received a clear receipt therefor.

The above statements are furnished us as the facts in this matter. Of course our purpose is to do simple justice to all men—both friend and foe—and we, therefore, give these facts to our readers.

We have further received word from the Superintendent, Auditor and Treasurer of the State Road, to say that the books of the Road, and the records of the various offices are open to the inspection of gentlemen who may desire to do them justice in their administration, and that nothing is sought to be kept cocealed.

The Georgia Bill Set Aside—The Military Steps on the Bench—The Eligibility of Legislators to be Tested by Military Commission.

HEADQ'RS MILITARY DISTRICT OF GEORGIA, ATLANTA, GA., January 13, 1870.

☞ Prince Arthur will visit Washington toward the close of this month, for the especial purpose of calling on President Grant before visiting other portions of the United States. He will remain about a month, and be the guest of Mr. Thornton, the British Minister. Afterward he will go to New York and remain there several days.

GUANO.—The trade in guano int his city is now quite active, the experience of last year, as a general thing, having convinced those who used it that it will pay. Our planters are rapidly learning that it pays far better to cultivate a small area of ground well than to scratch over hundreds of acres in the old way.

LIVELY.—The city yesterday was as lively and frisky as a monkey on an apple wagon. [Macon Telegraph-Messenger.

Governor Brown is the leader of reserve corps in Georgia, which, if brought into action now might save the State from plunder and ruin. His interest is all in Georgia; he owes everything he is, or has been, to the people of Georgia; every fibre of his heart must vibrate with theirs. Why will he not, then, like Blucher at Waterloo, bring up the reserve at this critical moment and save the State? He can do it if he will, and give some some of his and Georgia's enemies a lofty fall.—Federal Union.

GENERAL COURT MARTIAL.—A general court martial is now in session at Oglethorpe Barracks. The following officers compose the court: Brevet Brigadier General G. A. De Russy, Brevet Colonel L. L. Livingston, Captain Charles Chester, First Lieutenant A. E. Clarke, Second Lieutenant John Califf, Brevet Captain C. W. Hobbs, Second Lieutenant Frank Heath, Judge Advocate.

MILITARY ITEMS.—Colonel M. K. Hudson, Inspector General of General Terry's staff, visited and inspected the troops now stationed as Fort Paulaski and Oglethorpe Barracks, within a few days past. He was much pleased with the appearance and discipline of the troops stationed in this city.—Savannah News.

A MODEL LEGISLATOR.—George Clower is in Atlanta by this time, fully prepared to make laws to order. George seems to be of the opinion that he has been badly treated by the Democrats, and says he is "goin' to pay 'em back." We feel bad about it, of course, but it would be quite useless to apologize to George; his intention is fixed, and nothing short of a quart of whisky, or the demoralization of the Democratic party, will slake his bloodthirstiness. For the convenience of the Atlanta police, we would state that George is about the color of a new saddle, bare-footed on top of his head, and of a very imposing appearance generally. As a rule, he wears kinky hair, cut short so as to keep it out of his eyes, and sports a number seventeen shoe. He is thick-lipped, long-heeled, has kidneys in his feet, and looks like a regular nigger. He will probably run for Governor at the next term.—Monroe Advertiser.

ATLANTA PHOTOGRAPHS.—For the first time in several years we gazed at R. B. Bullock. He is, if anything, paler than when he ran the Express Company in Augusta, and perhaps a trifle less beefy. Otherwise there was no change, and, though we may not be able to commend his deeds, it can not be denied that he is a remarkable handsome and imposing person. He was dressed in good taste, and bore himself with a hauteur probably gotten up for the occasion, but effectively dramatic, even if assumed. Like Abe Lincoln, he seemed to have "drifted into the apex of a great event," and was determined to push through to the end, whatever that might be. Alongside the "Governor" wobbled Proclamation Tweedy, festooned "regardless of expense," and in evident imitation of a foreign valet mimicking a foreign count.

AARON ALPEORIA BRADLEY—It was not difficult to detect him; yet ordinary descriptions hardly do him justice. He is apparently fifty-five years of age, with bushy gray wool, complexion of a saffron hue, and shaped with some symmetry. He is a preposterous exaggeration of General Jackson done in gamboge. His shiny black beaver reposed on the desk before him, his overcoat was coiled beneath. On his nose the inevitable eye-glasses perched, and a pair of dirty yellow kid gloves wallowed over his hands. He was evidently on his good behavior, mindful of the past and fearful of the future; but, ever and anon, his sneaking eyes peeped furtively around, and a gorilla grin showed the presence of false teeth in ambuscade. The words came forth with fluency and directness, the only vulgarism being the pronunciation of "justice." This word he graped between his purchased teeth, and, ground out, it took the form of "jestis." We thank thee, Alpeoria, for this rendering, for justice a jest is in the State of Georgia.

Senator Candler. His uttered oath came forth like the earnest peal of the war-trumpet. How it may be hereafter, we can not tell, but on this opening day, the most gallant and commanding figure was that of Mr. Candler. He owes but little to nature in the way of good looks, for his face is prematurely withered, and the eye has a lustre not often seen in the young. His dark hair is abundant, and invades his square and unimposing forehead. His complexion is swarthy to billiousness. His body is anything but shapely. And yet, despite these peculiarities, he would be promptly singled out among a group of handsome men on the Senate floor as the most intense, the most intrepid and most aspiring of all his compeers. Whether moving about or standing motionless, the strange individuality of the man attracts by its very magnetic qualities, and it was observed by more than one person around us that Georgia might have another Stephens in days to come.—Augusta Constitutionalist.

Argument was resumed in No. 6 (standing in lieu of No. 12) Chattahoochee.

Pending argument of Jno. P. Benning for defendant in error. Court adjourned till 3 o'clock, P. M.

☞ Sumner's first falling out with Mrs. Julia Ward Howe occurred three years ago, says the World, upon her invitation to meet Edwin Booth at dinner. The Senator replied that he was "too much absorbed by the welfare of the masses to take any interest in individuals." To this note, put in her scrap-book, the lady appended the comment: "When last heard from, the Almighty had not yet reached this point." Boston was stirred to its depths. The Senator entreated, the lady relented, and both text and commentary were destroyed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Eighty-one bills were introduced in the House to-day, and referred to committees, and nineteen in the Senate.

A regiment dispersed the crowd. Rochefort, claiming the privilege of Deputy, allowed the crowd to pass to the Chamber, where he arrived, pale and much excited. The crowd finally dispersed without resisting the police or troops, though some arrests were made.

THE LAST BEST GIFT IN BREECHES AND BOUND FOR FORT SCOTT.—The Union Depot, in West Kansas City, was yesterday morning the scene of considerable excitement, inasmuch as there was present an individual—a woman about six feet in height, dressed a la Bloomer. Her attire consisted of a black coat over a calico gown, extending to the knees, and from there down to her feet could be seen a pair of black pants; and upon her feet were a pair of No. 7 shoes, men's style. She strutted up and down the depot in pompous style, much to the amusement of all present. The lady is from Salem, Ohio, and is accompanied by her huspand and two children. They left on the morning train, bound for Fort Scott. [Kansas City Times.

NEGROES AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Arrest of Manager Ford—The Matter to be Tested in the Courts.

About noon on Saturday last, Mr. John T. Ford, the lessee of the Academy of Music, was arrested in that building, during rehearsal, upon a warrant issued by T. J. Mackey. The writ was based upon the affidavit of a negro man, stating that on the previous evening, January 7th, he had visited the Academy under Mr. Ford's management, applied and offered money for a ticket of admission to the orchestra or dress circle of the building, to witness the performance, and was refused by Mr. Ford's orders, in violation of the laws of South Carolina, made in pursuance of the acts of Congress forbidding any distinction on account of race, color or previous condition.

The officer informed Mr. Ford that if he would proceed to Magistrate Mackey's office, No. 29 Broad street, he (the officers would follow in the rear. This suggestion was complied with, and the seat of justice reached. The magistrate was surrounded by a large crowd of colored people, evidently waiting for the trial. The warrant and affidavit was read to Mr. Ford, and he at once waived an examination, and stated his readiness to enter into bonds and appear before the Court of General Sessions, and expressed his desire to test the law speedily and thoroughly. The bonds were given by Mr. Ford personally, and Messrs. John Chadwick and J. H. Devereux, in the sum of five hundred dollars each. Another warrant was then served, upon the affidavit of a negro named Claussen, declaring that he had presented a ticket and was refused admission by the doorkeeper. The examination was waived in this case also, and like bonds were executed.

The magistrate, in an explanatory way, remarked that the colored people of Charleston embraced many persons of intelligence, refine and character, who did not desire to intrude among the whites, but insisted upon precisely the same accommodation in the same part of the Academy.

Others of the race expressed their reluctance, in discussing the case, to associate with the poorer darkies (black trash) who might visit the Family Circle, but wished that the black as well as the white "aristocracy" should be provided for.

Several really respectable colored persons, during the day, disavowed all sympathy for a movement denounced by them as a political trick, and avowed their willingness to sit in the places provided for their own race when they visited the Academy.—Charleston News, 10th.

A NEGRO ADVERTISES FOR A WHITE HOUSEKEEPER.—About ten days ago, there appeared in the "want" column of the Chicago Tribune the following advertisement:

WANTED—A housekeeper by a widower. Duties very light. Address J. A., Tribune office.

It so happened that this notice attracted the attention of a respectable widow lady living on Wabash avenue, near Peck Court. Mrs. Emma Brownell, the lady in question, was anxious for employment of the nature described, and she accordingly addressed a brief note to "J. A.," asking what duties would be required, and seeking for full information in the matter. The following letter was received by her in reply a few days afterwards:

DEC. 29.—Mrs. Brownell: If I knew just what would suit you I would like it. I am a mechanic, 25 years old, no family, and if you are not too particular I could give you a good home. If you will, you can meet me at the corner of Monroe and La Salle streets this evening, at 7½.

J. ARNOLD, No. 547 South Clark.

The tenor of the above note appearing somewhat dubious, Mrs. Brownell concluded to allow some of her acquaintances to meet "J. Arnold" at the place of rendezvous, and a gentleman friend of hers volunteered for the required service. The result of the interview may be briefly stated. The thirty-five year old mechanic proved to be a dusky young swell of a negro; as flat of probosis, puffy of lip, black of phiz, and oily of brow as the most confirmed miscegenator in the land could have desired. He was in search of a white female to share the joys and comforts of his home and person, but it is hardly necessary to state that he failed in his object on the particular occasion in question.—Chicago Times.

Mrs. Pollard Again.

Mrs. E. A. Pollard, well known in this city, and the proprietress of the St. Cloud Hotel in Washington, published a card a few days since, stating that it was rumored in Washington that she was the agent of E. A. Pollard, and denied the statement, whereupon Mr. Pollard publishes the following card:

To the Editors of the Baltimore Gazette:

SIRS: I notice that a certain party in Washington city, having no longer any right to my name, and using an unhappy notoriety to profit her present trade as a hotel keeper, is very busy in advertising herself, in a peculiar way, by procuring in a peculiar way, by procuring in the journals incidental mentions of herself under my name. One of these notices occurs in your reading columns this morning. Permit me to protest against it, and to hope that other journals, however accustomed or inclined to attack and misrepresent me, will at least spare me this injustice.

Respectfully,
EDWARD A. POLLARD.

☞ The Schenectady Star is puzzling itself over the conundrum, why girls can dress as thinly as they do and still keep warm, and relates the following startling experience: "We once rode with a girl in an open cutter 15 miles on one of the coldest nights of winter, and while we sat frozen nigh as stiff as a snake, our teeth chattering like castinets, she kept up an animated conversation, every now and then exclaiming: 'Oh! isn't this delightful! Don't you enjoy it——?' When we arrived at our destination, notwithstanding we were dressed a great deal warmer than our fair companion, she had to lift us out of the cutter and conduct us to a farm house. On the return trip we were frozen to death, and she drove the corpse home. It must be that girls are tougher than we men people."

☞ A characteristic anecdote is told of Judge Grier, who lately resigned his seat on the Supreme bench. When he was sitting in Pennsylvania, a cause involving the title to some land was tried before him. A blundering jury returned an unjust verdict. As the clerk turned to record it, Judge Grier said: "Mr. Clerk, that verdict is set aside by the Court. It may as well be understood that in this State it takes thirteen men to steal a man's farm."

B. A. Fahnestock's
VERMIFUGE!

WHY is it that so many children die under the age of five years? That a large proportion of children die under that age, has long been a subject of remark, and without a satisfactory cause ascertained, it is certain.

Also, it is known that worms exist in the human system from its earliest infancy; therefore parents, especially mothers, who are more constantly with their children, can not be too observing of the first symptoms of worms; for so surely as they exist, can they be safely and certainly removed from the most Delicate Infant, by the timely use ot

B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

It is perfectly harmless, contains no Mercury, being a purely Vegetable Composition, and may be administered with the utmost safety to children of all ages.

Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country, but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily.

CAUTION.

Should occasion require you to purchase B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, be particularly careful too see that the initials are B. A. This is the article that has been so

Favorably Known Since 1829,

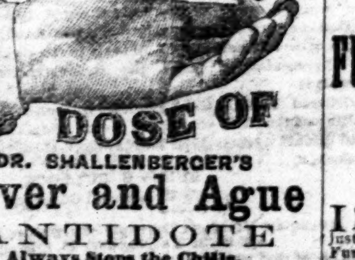

And purchasers must insist on having it, if they do not wish to have an imvitiation forced upon them.

MORNING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, JANUARY 14

Important Call.

The members of the Legislature, whose ineligibility will come before the Military Board, are requested to meet at Room No. 40, in the United States Hotel, at 9 o'clock this morning.

Democrats Stand Firm.

The Democrats should stand firm to right. There is good reason to believe that the Bullock party are trying to buy or frighten some of the Democrats to withdraw their oaths. This shows that the movement is an effort to scare. Of course no man has taken the oath who is ineligible, and to withdraw it, would place one in a false position.

Adhesion to duty, and fidelity to right, with moderation in temper, constitute the only course for all Democrats.

The Outrage on Mr. Hall, Representative from Glynn.

The progress of the organization of the Legislature under the Georgia Bill, has been marked by a continual succession of the boldest and most indefensible legal outrages.

The case of Mr. Hall, of Glynn, is one in point.

Mr. Hall is an eligible member of the House, pronounced elected in Gen. Meade's proclamation, and called to attend the Legislature by Governor Bullock. He presented himself in conformity with the Georgia Bill, to take the oath prescribed while the organization was proceeding, and A. L. Harris, the Supervisor, pro. tem. of the farce, refused to let him take the oath.

If this is not hindering a member from taking the oath, we would like to know what it is.

Now is the Time to Subscribe to The Constitution.

The subscribers are streaming into THE CONSTITUTION.

The proceedings of the Legislature have proven to be of the most exciting character. THE CONSTITUTION gives them in full twice a day, and, in addition, all the news and gossip bearing on the situation. We have active and reliable reporters and locals busy recording all that is going on.

Now is the time to subscribe to our paper. The Legislature has been adjourned until Monday. Its session, when again convened, will be probably characterized by matters of surpassing interest. Every Georgian is interested in the momentous matters now being enacted, and the curiosity to get the freshest, truest and latest intelligence is general.

THE CONSTITUTION will furnish this. Arrangements have been made, so that our Southwestern Georgia friends will get our evening edition, with the day's proceedings, the next morning.

Now is the time to subscribe.

While there has been an increase of failures in 1869 over 1868, and the dealers generally have had a hard time to squeeze through even, and the liabilities have outjumped assets, yet the apprehension of wholesale disaster has been agreeably disappointed.

But it is a remarkable fact that this is due to the despised and impoverished South. The astounding recuperation of Southern prosperity has saved the North a widespread business crash.

We also reproduce another interesting table showing the aggregate of failures for twelve years.

The World seems to think that the great danger to business now, is the powerful tendency to indiscriminate credits, and the cut-throating competition in small trade.

Merchants must stick to legitimate business.

The Georgia Bill Deliberately Violated.

Yesterday, at noon, Governor Bullock ordered that the House be adjourned until Monday at 12 o'clock, that an investigation might be made into the right of certain persons to hold their seats under the Reconstruction Acts. Gen. Terry approves the order; and in addition, appoints, by instruction from Washington, a Military Board of three United States Officers, to enquire into the eligibility of certain legislators therein named under the Reconstruction Acts.

We opine that Gen. Terry is acting in the whole matter as a subordinate.

Bullock and his faction have found that a legal execution of the Georgia bill will not give them supreme control. It puts the negro members back, and as the Radicals and conservative Republicans are in a majority, it secures for Congress the cherished object of a ratification of the 15th Amendment, but it still does not make Bullock the monarch of Georgia. Hence, Bullock has telegraphed to Washington, and got an interference not authorized by the bill, and really not necessary for the purpose of Congress. How far he has deceived Grant in this matter, by representing the failure of the ratification of the 15th Amendment as certain with the Legislature as now composed, will be discovered in time.

We propose dispassionately to look into the legality of this interference. We have, one by one, exposed the illegal acts of Bullock and his faction, and shall still keep the record written up.

The Georgia Bill is the act under which the re-organization is proceeding. The reconstruction measures of Congress were fully complied with, and are not the law under which the present procedure is had.

The Georgia Bill directs the Governor of the STATE of Georgia, not the Provisional Governor of the Territory of Georgia, to summon all persons proclaimed by General Meade elected as legislators, and the said General Assembly shall proceed to perfect its organization according to the provisions of this act.

The said members thus summoned, shall take the oth required by the Constitution of Georgia, and in addition, an oath prescribed by the act. If they falsely take the oath, they shall be tried for perjury in the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Georgia.

The persons thus elected and entitled to compose said Legislature, as proclaimed by General Meade, who have complied with this act by taking the oath, shall proceed to re-organize the two branches by the election and qualification of proper officers.

If any person shall hinder any person elected as aforesaid, from taking the oath or after taking the oath, from participating in the proceedings of either house, he can be tried for a felony in the Federal Court.

The exclusion of any person for color, race, or previous servitude, is forbidden. The President may employ soldiers to enforce the act if applied for by the Governor.

The 15th Amendment shall be ratified before we are represented in Congress.

These are the entire provisions of the Georgia Bill, which is the sole warrant for this reorganization. Not only does it not authorize the organization of the House to be stopped after the persons declared elected in Meade's proclamation are sworn in, for a military board to examine into the eligibility of members who have taken the oath, but such an act is in direct and positive violation of the bill itself, and really exposes all concerned to indictment for felony.

This action violates the bill in requiring the legislators to perfect the legislative organization otherwise than according to the provisions of the act; in seeking to expose the elected members to other tests than taking the oath prescribed in the act; in hindering members who have taken the oath from proceeding to organize the House, until something else, not laid down in the act, is done; in hindering members, made eligible by taking the oath, from participating in the proceedings of the House; in providing another tribunal than the conscience of each member, for passing upon his eligibility; in arbitrarily and illegally interrupting the execution of a sovereign act of Congress.

The Act makes the conscience of each member the test of his eligibility with the penalties of a criminal court, if he does wrong.

This action creates another forum in violation of the Act.

Were we a member of the Legislature thus illegally interferred with in taking our legislative seat, we should not only not fear, but we would drag before the Court, under the law, every man engaged in the criminal deed.

MISSOURI RATIFIES THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.—St. Louis, January 7.—The Missouri Legislature ratified the 15th Amendment to-day. The vote in the Senate was 22 to 3; in the House 86 to 34. The House adopted a resolution asking our members of Congress to sustain the bill in regard to graduated lands.

From the message of Governor Hoffman, of New York, we learn that the State debt amounts to $34,348,035. About 1,000,000 children attended the public schools of the State last year, at a total cost of $9,884,828, leaving a balance of nearly $1,500,000 in the common school fund. One hundred and twenty-eight savings bank are doing business, with an aggregate of assets exceeding $180,000,000. The National Guard numbers 25,000 officers and men.

Female.

It is considered highly unsafe and improper for respectable women to visit the Halls of Congress unattended.

Since the famous printers' strike in 1864, two of the Boston daily papers—the Traveler and the Transcript—have employed girls as compositors. They average $18 a week.

A hotel at Red Oak, Iowa, advertises:—"The most polite ladies will act as waiters, dressed in pea-green jackets, tilting hoops, and high-heeled gaiters."

☞ The elite of colored society in Washington celebrated New Year's day with all the honors. Several of the young gentlemen of African descent paid their calls in stylish equipages, and it is said they found at several houses tables covered with more sumptuous repasts, and more elegantly served, than could be found among the Anglo-Saxon race.

Consolidation Forbid the French Cable.

Gen. Terry Directed to Proceed Vigorously against any Case of Perjury.

WASHINGTON, January 13.—Revenue receipts to-day $300,000.

Fremont has arrived.

In the Senate, the Committee on Foreign Relations agreed to insert a clause in the French cable bill, forbidding its consolidation with the Anglo-American cable.

Customs for the week ending on the 8th, $3,000,000.

The Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats are in consultation here, preparing a report.

Among the nominations made is Chas. S. Cooper, Surveyor of Customs, Memphis.

The President, Belknap and Sherman, after consultation, directed Gen. Terry to proceed vigorously against any flagrant case of perjury in the organization of the Georgia Legislature.

The vote in the Senate to-day to go into executive session was nays 29 to 27 yeas. Friends of the administration here simply voted with the minority.

In the Senate the Post-office Committee reported a bill establishing a line of steamers between New York and Europe.

The Virginia bill was resumed and Drake's amendment rejected by a vote of 45 to 11. The question recurred on the amendment prescribing the oath of third section, fourteenth amendment, to members of the Legislature, was discussed to Executive session.

Thomas Biddle, of Pa., was confirmed as Consul General to Havana.

In the House the preliminary proceedings were prolonged by the filibustering spirit on the Virginia bill, which was finally resumed and discussed to adjournment. Laurence supported the bill; Logan and Wood opposed it. The House is in session to-night for debate.

MONTGOMERY, January 13.—The Legislature is engaged entirely on local business. In the House, several members expresed indignation at the introduction of a resolution, authorizing the appointment of a clerk, to put illegible bills in shape for engrossing. The member, introducing it, stated that the Governor had often to approve bills that were disgraceful to the State, on account of the bad spelling and worse grammar. The resolution was defeated. There is much lobbying over railroad-State-aid bills.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The police and magistrates were stoned. Intense excitement exists, but no serious trouble. There are one hundred thousand soldiers. The police force has been largely increased. The Marsillies appeared as usual to-day. The mob was very violent, and Rochefort, in a leader, says the cry of yesterday was for justice, to-morrow the cry may come for vengeance.

HAVANA, Jan. 13.—Seven steamers and monitors Dictator and Sangua, have arrived.

A California Story, by Mark Twain

Whenever Dick Baker, of Deadhorse Gulch, was out of luck and a little downhearted, he would fall to mourning over the loss of a wonderful cat he used to own, (for where women and children are not, men of kindly impulse take up with pets, for they must love something.) And he always spoke of the strange sagacity of that cat with the air of a man who believed in his secret heart that there was something human about it—may be even supernatural.

I heard him talking about this animal once. He said: Gentlemen, I used to have a cat here, by the name of Tom Quartz, which you'd a took an interest in, I reckon —most anybody would. I had him here eight years—and he was the remarkablest cat I ever seed. He was a large gray one, of the Tom specie, and he had more hard, natural sense than any man in his camp, and a power of dignity; he wouldn't a let the govnor of California be familiar with him. He never ketched a rat in his life—'peared to be above it. He never cared for nothing but mining. He knowed more about mining, that cat did, than any man I ever see. You couldn't tell him nothing about placer digging—and as for pocket mining, why he was just born for it. He would dig out after me and Jim when we went over the hills prospecting, and he would trot along behind as far as much as five miles, if we went so far. And he had the best judgment about mining ground—why you never see anything like it. When we went to work, he'd scatter a glance around, and if he didn't think much of the indications, he would give a look as much as to say, "Well, I'll have to get you to excuse me," and without another word he'd hyste his nose into the air and shove for home. But if the ground suited him, he would lay low and keep dark till the first pan was washed, and then he would sidle up and take a look, and if there was about six or seven grains of gold he was satisfied —he didn't want no better prospect'n that —and then he would lay down on our coats and snore like a steamboat till we'd struck the pocket, and then get up and superintend.

Well, by and by, up comes the quartz excitement. And everybody was into it. Everybody was picking and blasting instead of shoveling dirt on the hill side—everybody was putting down a shaft instead of scraping the surface. Nothing would do Jim, but we must tackle the ledge, too, and so we did. We commenced putting down a shaft, and Tom Quartz he begin to wonder what in the Dickens it was all about. He hadn't ever seen any mining like that before, and he was all upset, as you may say—he couldn't come to a right understanding of it no way—it was too many for him. He was down on it, too, you bet you —he was down on it powerful—and always appeared to consider it the cussedest foolishness out. But that cat, you know, he was always agin new fangled arrangements; somehow he could never abide 'em. You know how it is with old habits. But by and by Tom Quartz begin to get sort of reconciled a little, though he never could altogether understand that eternal sinking of a shaft and never panning out anything. At last he got to coming down in the shaft himself, to try to cipher it out. And when he'd got the blues, and feel kind o' scruffy, aggravated and disgusted—knowing as he did that the bills was running up all the time and we warn't making a cent—he would curl up on a gunny sack in the corner and go to sleep. Well, one day when the shaft was down about eight foot, the rock got so hard that we had to put in a blast—the first blasting we'd ever done since Tom Quartz was born. And then we lit the fuse and clumb out and got off about 50 yards—and forgot and left Tom Quartz sound asleep on the gunny sack. In about a minute we seen a puff of smoke burst up out of the hole, and then everything let go with an awful crash, and about four millions tons of rocks and dirt and smoke and splinters shot up about a mile and a half into the air; and, by George! right in the midst of it was old Tom Quartz going end over end, and a snorting and a sneezing, and a clawing and a reaching for things like all possessed. But it warn't no use, you know, it warn't no use. And that was the last we see of him for about two minutes and a half, and then all of a sudden it began to rain rocks and rubbage, and directly he come down—kerwhop about ten foot off from where we stood. Well, I reckon he was p'raps the orneriest looking beast you ever see. One ear was set back on his neck, and his tail was stove up, and his eye-winkers was swinged off, and he was all blacked up with powder and smoke and all sloppy with mud and slosh from one end to the other. Well, sir, it wasn't no use to try to apologize—we couldn't say a word. He took a sort of disgusted look at hisself, and then he looked at us—and it was just exactly the same as if he had said, "Gents, may be you think it's smart to take advantage of a cat that ain't had no experience in quartz-mining, but I think different," and then he turned on his heel and marched off home without ever saying another word.

That was jest his style. And by and by, when he did get to going down in the shaft agin, you'd be astonished at his sagacity. The minute we'd touch off a blast and the fuse'd begin to sizzle, he'd give a look as much as to say, "Well, I'll have to get you to excuse me," and it was surprising, the way he'd shine out of that hole and go for a tree.

Sagacity? It ain't no name for it. 'Twas inspiration!

I said; "Well, Mr. Baker, this prejudice against quartz mining was remarkable, considering how he came by it. Couldn't you ever cure him of it?"

"Cure Him! No! When Tom Quartz was sot once, he was always sot—and you might a blowed him up as much as three million times and you'd never a broke him of his cussed prejudice agin quartz mining."

The affection and the pride that lit up Baker's face when he delivered this tribute to the firmness of his humble friend of other days, will always be a vivid memory with me.

It is said that Cook, the New York Minister who has eloped with a Miss Johnson, left letters to his wife confessing his crime. His evil course has been of some length of time. Her brothers are after him, and blood is looked for.

The Telegraph operators' strike is unchanged. All hands stand firm. The Company won't yield. The funds of the operators are getting low.

New York still has gold excitement at times. Marion, Bros. & Co. have been expelled from the Gold Exchange Bond for violating the rules of the Exchange. Much excitement.

The last rail of the Utah Central Railroad has been laid. Great jollification took place over it. This completes connection with Salt Lake and the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS AS A MEDICINE AND BEVERAGE.—As a general beverage, a necessary corrector of water rendered impure by vegetable decomposition or other causes, as Limestone, Sulphate of Copper, etc., the Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. Its purity and exemption from all grossly intoxicating properties, combined with its mildly stimulating and invigorating elements, establish it as the only alcoholic beverage in our country that can be imbibed with pleasure and safety. The nervous torpor and debility which follow the administration of other alcoholic preparations and mixtures of the day, succeeded by their intense and painful nervous reactions, are unknown as the subsequent effects of the Schiedam Schnapps, even when taken so freely; while as a Stomachic, a Tonic Appetiser, it stands pre-eminent among the established curatives of the day.

A public trial of twenty years' duration, in every section of our country, of the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps; its unsolicited indorsement by the medical faculty, and a sale unequaled by any other alcoholic distillation, have insured for it the reputation of purity and salubrity claimed for it by the proprietor on its original introduction to the public.

Put up in quart and pint bottles, handsomely wrapped in yellow paper.

For sale by all druggists, apothecaries and grocers in the United States.

THE WILLINGHAM FERTILIZER

FOR COTTON, CORN, WHEAT.

THIS STANDARD MANURE, named after a well known practical Planter of Georgia and South Carolina, combines in a concentrated form all the fertilizing elements necessary for the production of COTTON, CORN and WHEAT, and by its use is certain to increase not only the yield, but to improve the quality of the products. It is made with a special view to the wants of the soils of the South, and can be relied upon as to excellence of material, containing highly necessary substances, the great cost of which have heretofore precluded their being in common use It can be depended on as uniform, always reliable, and productive of good crops.

ALBANY, GA., September, 1869.

Having a full knowledge of the composition and process of manufacture of the "Willingham Cotton, Corn, Wheat and Rice Fertilizer," I have no hesitation in pronouncing it to be a most reliable fertilizer, one of the best in use, and most particularly adapted to the soil of Georgia and South Carolina.

ARRIVAL OF DR. MURPHY, CHIROPODIST, OF NEW ORLEANS.—The Doctor would, in the most respectful manner, announce to the ladies and gentlemen of Atlanta, that at the urgent solicitation of many highly respectable families, he has been induced to visit this city professionally, for a few days only. Those who are suffering from corns, bunions, in-growing nails, or any disease of the feet, have now a rare opportunity of being attended by a skillful operator. The Doctor is stopping at the United States Hotel.

J. Percy Greene, Esq., of Dalton, Ga., was admitted to the bar.

No. 15 is William D. Elam vs. H. M. Hamilton, Tax Collector—injunction from Marion. It was dismissed for want of prosecution.

No. 16 is Eagle Manufacturing Company vs. Charles Wise—assumpsit from Muscogee. Henry L. Benning for plaintiff in error. Peabody & Brannon, Wm. Dougherty for defendant.

Pending the opening argument court adjourned till 10 o'clock A. M., to-morrow.

NEW LOCOMOTIVES.—The Georgia Railroad has received two new engines, from the Rogers' Locomotive Works, at Paterson, New Jersey. One of them, designed for the passenger service, is christened "S. Thomas," in honor of Stevens Thomas, one of the stockholders at Athens, and has 14 inch stroke, 22 inch cylinder, and 5½ foot wheel. The other, a freight engine, is called "D. E. Butler," in honor of Rev. D. E. Butler, one of the stockholders at Madison, and has 15 inch stroke, 24 inch cylinder, and 5 foot wheel.

As we have the iron, coal and other conveniences at hand, why not manufacture locomotives at Atlanta? Is it not better that the money should be retained in our midst, and contribute towards the enriching of our own people?

PEOPLES' MEETING YESTERDAY EVENING. At half past three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the people, irrespective of party affiliations, assembled at the City Hall in large numbers. On motion of Hon. Dunlap Scott, of Floyd, Hon. J. E. Bryant, of Richmond, was called to the chair, and Major John T. Burns, of Chattooga, requested to act as Secretary. On taking the chair, Hon. J. E. Bryant explained the object of the meeting, in a terse and pointed manner. As a Republican and an Union soldier, he pronounced the proceedings of the Blodgett-Bullock faction an outrage on the people. He knew Gen. Terry to be a high-toned and honorable gentleman. The present was a meeting, not of partisans, but of the people against the Blodgett-Bullock ring. The bold and unwarrantable proceedings of that faction was, in his opinion, to cover up their financial operations He counseled wisdom, coolness, and courage, and advised the people not to listen to the advice of democratic editors employed by that faction, to counsel them to do just what Blodgett would have them to do. It is not our purpose to follow him through his strong and forcible speech. He urged the appointment of a committee of both parties to suggest a course of action.

On motion of J. H. Caldwell, a Committee of Nine were appointed.

The Chair appointed, J. H. Caldwell, W. F. Holden, C. K. Osgood, Dunlap Scott, I. E. Shumate, F. M. Harper, Milton A. Candler, W. C. Smith and C. B. Wootten.

On motion, the meeting adjourned to meet at the City Hall at 10 o'clock, A. M., to-day.

AN INTERESTING LAW CASE.—We are in receipt of a full report of a case tried before a Moot Court at the Law School of Harvard University, on the 27th of December last, Parsons J. presiding. The case was that of Thomas Edson, vs. Henry Thompson and others, owners of the schooner Penobscot, and was submitted to the Court on the following statement of facts:

The Penobscot plies regularly as a packet, between Bangor and Boston, and is owned in Bangor.

In that place, the day before she was expected to sail for Boston, the plaintiff delivered to Henry Thompson, who was the master, and who owns one quarter of the vessel, a coupon Bond, of the U. S. for [illegible] and $180 in Bank Bills. The master was to take them to Boston, there to take the bond to a broker who had agreed with the plaintiff, by letter, to buy it for $600; and the plaintiff, who had a store in Bangor, gave the master a list of goods he wished him to purchase in Boston, and bring to Bangor; amounting to about $750.

The master was in the habit of being so employed. He usually charged 3 per cent. commission on his purchases, which he retained as his personal perquisite; and the customary freight on the goods from Boston to Bangor, which freight went to the vessel.

The master put the bond and the bills—being on board when he received them—into a small safe in his cabin, which had been sold to him as fire and burglar proof. A thief picked the lock of the cabin door, and then broke open the safe, stole the bond and bills, with other money and valuables then in the safe, and carried them away without alarming two of the crew who slept in the forecastle.

It is agreed that had the bond and bills been carried, and the goods purchased and brought to Bangor, the charge above stated would have been made, and no other.

It is also admitted by the plaintiff that the property was not lost by negligence.

The questions submitted to the court are: First, is the master as master, or are the owners, responsible for any part of the loss? Second, if so, for what part?

The court decided in favor of the defendant. Messrs. Beckett and French appeared for the plaintiff, and Julius L. Brown, of this city, and F. E. Hills, for the defendant.

HOW QUEEN VICTORIA LOOKS.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette furnishes the following results of an inspection of the British Queen:

"Queen Victoria is short and stout—so stout, indeed, that fat would perhaps be a more correct term. Her face is full, round, very large and heavy; mouth large, and lips thin, but neither impressing you disagreeably; nose rather prominent, but symmetrical in shape, and terminating sharply; head of medium size, but looking somewhat disproportionate to her large face, more noticeable for breadth at the base than height, and flat or level on top; forehead straight and very finely developed; eyes, I think, blue; expression unassuming, kind and motherly. Her hair is quite gray—therefore, I infer, all her own. She looked to me from 55 to 60, though her actual age is 50. Her complexion has the brightest scarlet hue, indicative of much dinner-wine drinking, which is said to be very regular with her, and some malicious people say she don't restrict herself to the milder stimulants.

EXEMPLARY DAMAGES.—Under the foregoing heading, the Pittsburg Daily Commercial says:

"Exemplary damages, after all, are about the best preventive of railroad accidents, but it is rarely that juries award them to an extent that will teach railroad corporations that there is economy in careful management and the best of rolling stock. In a New York Court a railroad employee, a "pilot engineer" on the New York Central road, who brought suit against the company for injuries sustained by a collision on that road two years ago, has just recovered a remuneration of twenty-eight thousand dollars for his wounds. If injured passengers would adopt a similar mode of action in cases of accident, railroad companies might be taught a lesson that would be valuable to the public."

Three cheers for the Red River Republic! If this be a violation of neutrality, charge it in the Alabama account, Mr. Bull.—Boston Post.

That a scrutinizing investigation may be had in relation to the business of this department, it has been deemed appropriate to give the very full exhibit of every transaction, as presented in the foregoing account.

Your Honorable body came into office without the means of complying with such liabilities against the city as were immediate, and if not met must prove detrimental to the credit of the city, then in a precarious condition. Your Finance Committee, with promptness and energy, raised a fund sufficient for the then exigencies of the city, becoming personally responsible, and in a very short time, with sagacity and wisdom, adopted the cash system, thereby checking speculation in city checks, and greatly elevating the credit of the city.

The coupons due in March, May, July, September and November have all, on presentation, been promptly paid, and those due on the 1st of January, 1870, amply provided for. To accomplish this, it was necessary to make temporary loans in anticipation of the taxes, which were, generally, not due till after the 1st of July. These loans have all been promptly paid.

In closing this report, it is but just to say that the Finance Committee, have been prompt and active in sustaining the credit of the city, by meeting and overcoming every obstacle which has been presented in this department, and the ability and economy manifested by them in conducting the finances of the city during the year, justly entitle them to the appellation of "well done good and faithful servants," from an appreciative constituency.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. W. CLAYTON, City Treasurer.

Honorable Mayor and Council of Atlanta:

GENTLEMEN: Below I submit a report of the General Tax for the present year, 1869.

Poll Tax,	$ 1,304 00
Street Tax,	2,271 00
Tax on carriages and horses,	645 25
Tax on furniture,	359 60
Tax on money, solvent debts, etc.	8,482 15
Tax on real estate,	83,581 84
Aggregate Tax,	$96,644 34
Of which I have collected	61,036 74
Leaves a ballance in fi. fa.'s of	$35,607 60

In addition to the above it is proper to add the assessed value of real estate on defaulters' list—$1,420 80X$83,581 34, which makes the tax on real estate $84,911 34, and the aggregate tax would be $97,973 94.

There are also double tax fi. fa.'s issued against defaulters for street and poll tax, whose names were taken from the census books, to the amount of $31,520 00, and while under existing statutes and ordinances but little is realized from this source, it is presumable that some timely legislation would make it available to a considerable extent.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

P. THOMAS, Receiver and Collector.

THE LIVING MACHINE.—Injure the main spring of a watch and every portion of the works becomes disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls, to a certain extent, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried farther; for as the weakness or other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the time-piece, so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is sallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty. It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful warfare with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopœia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of this wholesome and palatable, yet powerful, stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend. jan9-deod1w&w1t

THE HUMAN FORM DIVINE.—What sad havoc Scrofula inflicts on the human system? How Rheumatism distorts the frame! What misery the injudicious use of Calomel entails. How sad the effects of Syphilis transmitted from parent to child. Would you avoid these terrible afflictions, fail not to use DR. TUTT'S SARSAPARILLA AND QUEEN'S DELIGHT. It penetrates every fibre of the system, even into the bones, and eradicates every trace of disease. dec31-dtf

UNIVERSAL LIFE INS. CO.

—NEW YORK—

The Original Joint-Stock Life Ins. Co. of the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVELY confined to the Insurance of first class healthy lives.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE of the Stock system of Life Insurance, as opposed to the Mutual, is a low rate of premium for a stated sum insured, which is IMMEDIATE, SECURED and CERTAIN; in lieu of a high rate of premium with a promised dividend, which is DISTANT, CONTINGENT and UNCERTAIN; this so-called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium charged in the first instance.

ILLUSTRATION.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of effecting an insurance on his life; this amount will immediately secure him in the UNIVERSAL, the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum, paid to a company charging the ordinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of [illegible]—difference, immediately secured, in favor of the UNIVERSAL, $2,277.

To illustrate the importance to the policy holder of low premiums in more general terms, it may be stated that by a reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one third per cent. greater, and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an annual cash dividend of thirty three and one-third per cent. payable in advance, or to a dividend of forty-five per cent. payable at the end of five years.

By the Stock plan the full cash effect of the premium is immediately secured to the insured, the Company taking all the risk. By the Mutual plan the full value in insurance of the premium paid, is not secured to the policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself.

charged by the Universal are as low as the actual experience of insured life in this country will justify, and on the ordinary Life and Ten-Year Non-forfeiture policies are nearly one-third lower than those charged by the majority of Mutual Companies.

Special attention is asked to our "Return Premium Plan," by which the amount of the policy is secured simply by the temporary deposit of the annual premiums, which are returned in full, together with the amount assured, to the holder of the policy when it shall become a claim upon the Company. Also to the by which a reduction of one-third is made in the premium after the first annual payment, being, in fact, equivalent to a dividend of fifty per cent. A clause is inserted in the policies issued by the "Universal," in which these results are distinctly specified and guaranteed.

CERTIFICATES.

I hereby certify that I have planted largely of Hunt's Improved Cotton Seed, and am satisfied it will produce more than any I ever used. Far more can be gathered to the hand.

B. G. LOCKET.

SPARTA, GA., December 10, 1869.

I have seen the Hunt Cotton growing, for several years past and regard it as one of the very best varieties of Short Cotton that I have ever seen. I shall plant some of it another year for the purpose of testing its valuable qualities—this I would not do, if I did not entertain a very favorable opinion of it. E. T. HARRIS.

I have used the Hunt Cotton Seed the present year, and am pleased with the result. It has more lint to the quantity of seed, larger bolls, holds fruit better during a drought, and its cotton during storms, and a hand can pick more in a day. I think every planter should at least plant a part of his crop with it, so he can pick out the Prolific before it drops out and let the Hunt Cotton remain for the last. E. M. PENDLETON.
